

Message from the Director: Laura Drovetto

It is my pleasure to welcome you to Snoqualmie Springs School. As a Kindergarten Teacher for the past 20 years and now full time School Director, I look forward to working together in a partnership with new and our current families to ensure the very best opportunities for each and every child. I received my Bachelor of Arts in Psychology from the University of Washington, and a Bachelor of Arts in Education from Seattle University. I have several years of teaching experience in grades Kindergarten through Fifth grade prior to starting our private school.

Snoqualmie Springs School, commonly referred to as SnoSprings School, was established in 1998 by my husband Joe Drovetto and I. SnoSprings School is a private, non-affiliated primary grade school located in Issaquah, Washington. It provides a traditional academic program for highly capable Pre-Kindergarten, Kindergarten, First and Second Grade students. Our School provides a firm foundation in basic academic skills and instills life long learning habits. Personal values, citizenship, sciences, technology, foreign language, art and music appreciation, health and physical fitness are also key ingredients to our enriching program.

Snoqualmie Springs School provides a safe, nurturing, enthusiastic, and individually challenging environment where each child can develop to their fullest potential. Our dedicated teaching team and support staff work together to create and maximize opportunities for each child's growth and academic success as a diverse and unique learning community. Academic achievement is a major aspect of our school life, however, the atmosphere of the school is one that encourages warm, friendly, and caring relationships.

Today we continue to see ourselves as a close, family oriented, student centered school. Each day the teaching team will promote the development of a positive self-image, and instill respect and concern for others. As a parent of two grown boys, (one who works for the Seattle Seahawks as the Digital Communications Manager, and one who works for Fred Hutch as a Cancer Research Scientist) , a teacher and director, I welcome you to our learning community!

Best Regards,

Laura Drovetto
